SALISBURY STATE COLLEGE, SALISBURY, MD.

SEPTEMBER 11, 1967

SSC WELCOMES FRESHMEN

President Welcomes 1967 Freshmen

It is a pleasure to welcome all of the young men and women who are entering Salisbury State College for the first time this September. It is my hope that you will find this new adventure profitable and worthwhile. It is within the power of each individual to make it an exciting experience, while at the same time keeping in mind that it is most exacting in its demands upon your time and effort.

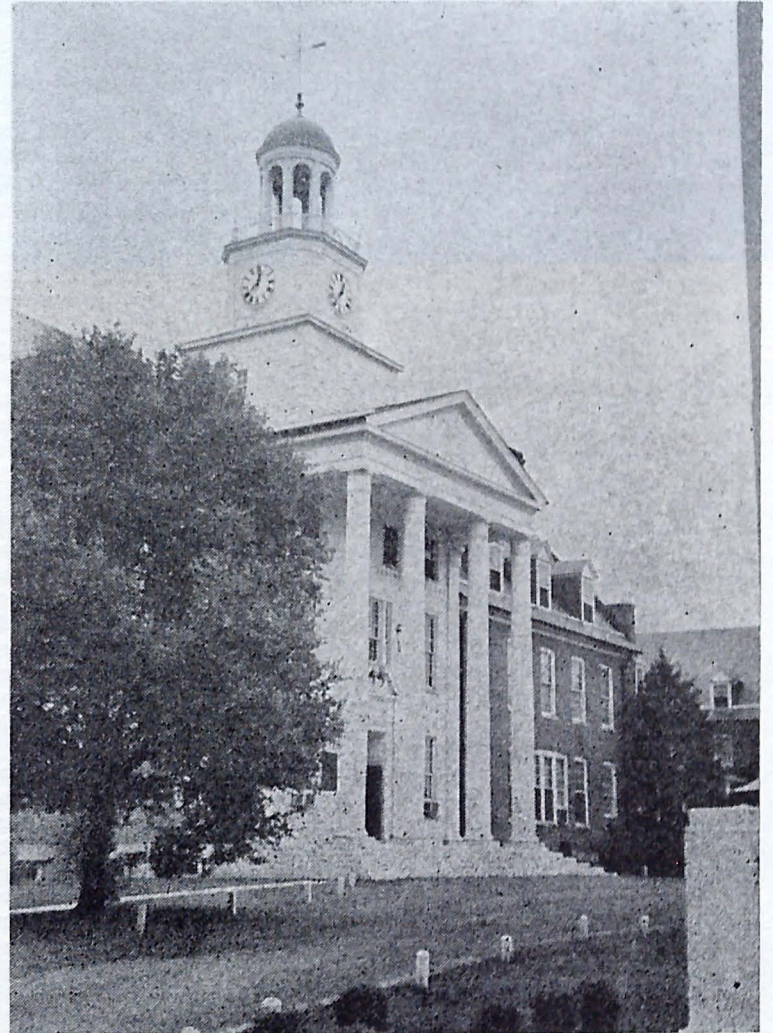

Dr. Wilbur Devilbiss
SSC President

Salisbury State College provides an academic climate in which each student is given an opportunity to learn how to learn. Every attempt is made at Salisbury State College to make it a place where, not only the academic, but also the social, cultural, and spiritual programs are arranged to provide stimulating and elevating experiences for each student.

For this to happen each student must bring to the College a high degree of motivation and a desire to learn and improve. It also means that he must be willing to pay the price that success in college demands.

The challenge to you is to take advantage of each opportunity presented and do your level best to fulfill your responsibility to yourself and to those who have placed trust and confidence in you. The very fact that you were admitted indicates that we feel that you have the ability to succeed. Success, however, will come only in the degree that you actively pursue it.

Freshman's Guide To Salisbury

All new college students have something in mind. Their motives may be a thirst for knowledge, a desire for good jobs, an attempt to justify parental pride, or even just safety from the draft. In any case, the academic demands of Salisbury State College will be clear to everyone, but students also need some diversion from their studies.

Although Salisbury lacks many of the recreational and cultural facilities of a large city, it need not be a boring place in which to live. Salisbury, as the largest city on Maryland's Eastern Shore, tries to give its citizens some of the advantages of city life. First among diversions for SSC students are restaurants or more casual dining places. Eating out gives the college student a change of atmosphere and also relieves the palate which cannot adjust to the Salisbury State cuisine.

Probably the most popular place, and perhaps the closest for college students, is The Hut where subs and pizza are the favored fare. Martini's, farther up Route 13, specializes in this same type of food. For something slightly fancier, the Saddle Club serves excellent food. Johnny's and Sammy's and Howard Johnson's are popular dining spots for families, and the English Grill serves unlimited coffee for a dime. Drive-ins include Carroll's, Burger Chef, Polar Bar, H & J, the Oaks, and Dairy Queen. Drug Fair has a lunch counter and Read's has its Town and Country Room.

Salisbury boasts two movie theaters, the Boulevard and the somewhat rickety Wicomico. These two carry most of the current movies. The Delmar and Ocean City drive-ins are not too far away. The Community Players present many shows which may be of interest to SSC students. Le Mans, a commercial slot racing course in downtown Salisbury, interests many students. Early in the second semester the Salisbury Civic Center hosts the National Indoor Tennis Championship. Salisbury has a pleasant park complete with a small zoo. When the college facilities are inadequate, Salisbury offers a library and a bookstore.

For those who like to shop, Main Street offers several excellent clothing stores and a number of small shops, such as the Smoke House, which specializes in records and tobacco. The Corner House, a factory outlet store on Poplar Hill Avenue, sells quality goods at a low price. There are also many shopping centers in and around the town.

In addition to these recreational facilities, the Student Life Committee is planning an active campus social life for SSC students. This will be supplemented by Sophanes Players and the Cultural Affairs Committee.

Churches of nearly all denominations are found in Salisbury. The SSC bus stops at the Asbury Methodist Church, the St. Francis de Sales Catholic Church, and at the courthouse each Sunday morning. From the courthouse Wicomico Presbyterian, St. Peter's Episcopal, Bethesda Methodist, Trinity Methodist, and Allen Memorial Baptist are within walking distance. Bethany Lutheran, the First Church of Christ-Scientist, the Beth Israel Congregation, the Seventh Day Adventist Church, and Asbury Methodist are within walking distance of the college. For those who have other means of transportation, the Church of Christ, Faith Lutheran, Christ Methodist, and St. Alban's Episcopal Chapel are available.

There is always something to do in Salisbury, or somewhere to go. Salisbury has quite a bit to offer for a city of its size, if you know where to look.

Salisbury Offers Extracurricular Activities

For the out-of-class student, Salisbury State College provides a wide range of extracurricular activities on campus. For those students interested in journalism, there is work on the Evergreen and The Holly Leaf, and for those budding young picture-takers there is the photography club. There are clubs at Salisbury for every type of individual, ranging from lovers of Spanish to ex-Boy Scouts. For those students who would rather spend every spare moment studying, SSC also has an exclusive group known as the "Dean's List Few", which welcomes the 3.25 student with open arms and congratulations.

The extracurricular life at Salisbury also includes a theatrical group known as the Sophanes Players. Sophanes offers interested students not only a chance to perform on stage, but also an opportunity to work behind the scenes on costumes, sets, make-up, lights, choreography, and even directing. In the past this thespian group has produced such plays as

May I extend to you a most sincere welcome as you become a member of the campus community at Salisbury State College. You are entering a new phase of your life, a phase which should be meaningful to you, a phase which should stretch your mind and heart. College will provide for you, I hope, an exciting opportunity to equip yourself for a world requiring curiosity, flexibility, a willingness to know oneself, excellence, and a sense of values truly personal. All of which, at best, can be a stimulating, fascinating, time-consuming, and very personal experience.

My best wishes are yours for a profitable and rewarding year as you discover that there can be as much fun in learning as there is satisfaction in helping yourself become a mature individual.

Organization of Student Gov. Association Outlined

The Student Government Association of Salisbury State College is composed of all full time students and is supported by the thirty dollar activity fee paid by them. Its purpose is to provide for that part of college life which is not to be found in the classroom and which the student cannot provide for himself.

The SGA operates under the direction of the SGA Board, which consists of the SGA officers, Chairman of the Student Life Committee, Student Co-Chairman of the Cultural Affairs Committee,

The Private Lives of the Master Race, Aria De Capo, Our Town, Summer and Smoke, Waiting for Godot, The Importance of Being Earnest, Electra, and U.S.A. Each production is cast separately so freshmen, transfer students, and even procrastinating upperclassmen, have a chance to read for a part or offer their services for off-stage work.

For those students who prefer athletics, Salisbury has a wide variety of intercollegiate and intramural sports in which they may participate. The year begins with soccer for the men and hockey for the women. For the physical fitness buff there are also bicycles which may be rented for a nominal fee.

Extracurricular activities at Salisbury are as varied as the students who participate in them. Freshmen and transfer students who are new to this campus need only look around to see that there is something available for them every minute if they are willing to give their time and energy.

one representative per class, and one representative-at-large for each one hundred students. The SGA Board regulates the activities of all SGA member organizations. The Board's first task this year will be to approve budgets for campus groups. Most SGA member organizations will have brief introductory meetings for incoming freshmen before classes begin.

Since the SGA board is the governing instrument of the entire student body, all students are encouraged to attend board meetings. The SGA is hoping to have greater participation this year and is confident that the freshman class will assume the responsibilities of self-government by electing able representatives and by observing the workings of the student government in action.

In the new SGA constitution which came into effect last year, provision was made for a Judicial Committee which will pass on the constitutionality of SGA decisions. The Judicial Committee will review any SGA matter put before it by anyone in the SGA other than a member of the Judicial Committee. Its function will be similar to that of the Supreme Court in the U. S. federal government. Appointments to the Judicial Committee are made by the SGA President, and the appointee remains a member until he resigns or leaves SSC. The member cannot be on the SGA Executive Board. As the SGA begins the 1967-68 school year, the most interesting development will probably be the formation and growth of its newest creation, the Judicial Committee.

Dean of Students Addresses Freshmen

It is a great pleasure to welcome you to this unique community. College is similar to other communities in many respects, but it is unique in that every member of it has a common interest.

The unique composition of the community is exciting, challenging, and as with all worthwhile challenges, it is a bit frightening. It is likely that you will become somewhat disillusioned after a few hours in that we do not appear to be as we were purported to be. After you have come to know your way around (you will be sophisticated college men and women in a very few days) you will probably come to enjoy what you are doing and your letters to your parents will become less depressing.

What we will attempt to do for you is to put the responsibility for your education on your shoulders, where it rightfully belongs. You will probably resist that attempt for some little while, but once you accept that responsibility, the rewards of your efforts will be commensurately great.

I'm glad you came!

SNEA

The Student National Education Association is the campus organization which helps the teacher-to-be realize some of the problems and needs of the classroom. Through meetings, lectures, films, and discussions the SNEA acquaints its members with new and old techniques in teaching. Speakers include teachers from every phase of the profession. Every area of teaching, from the experiences of a teacher of the mentally retarded to those of an instructor in the Peace Corps, are discussed. Also included in the discussions are experiences of Salisbury's own student teachers.

SSC's education association sends delegates to various colleges and universities for conventions and conferences and is represented in New York City at the annual convention. The group also sponsors college activities on campus.

For incoming freshmen and transfer students, who plan to make education their career, the

Student Life Committee Plans Activities for Coming Year

The Student Life Committee is planning an active year emphasizing its new dance and movie programs and utilizing its position as the coordinator of all social activities on campus.

The SLC will begin the year with a carefully planned and busy week to welcome the freshmen and returning students, highlighted by the Freshman Follies on September 17. On September 29, the movie series of approximately a dozen films will begin.

The recently-adopted dance program will be launched October 7 with the informal Sophomore Dance. Each class will in turn be responsible for an informal dance, receiving funds from the SLC budget for this purpose.

Homecoming is scheduled for the first weekend in November and will have an independent chairman under the sponsorship of the SLC. The Christmas and Spring dances will be handled in the same manner with the hope that more people will become involved in the planning and that the activities for each of these major dances will extend into a weekend of festivities.

The SLC is planning as its primary contribution to the campus, for the year, a conference concerning student activities to which representatives from other colleges will be invited.

Functioning as a coordinator, the Student Life Committee met in May with the SGA-member organization. At that time, a tentative calendar of events was formulated. This calendar will be distributed during the first week of school in an effort to achieve the SLC's primary goal for the coming year — a carefully balanced program of well-planned events.

It is the fervent hope of the Student Life Committee that the incoming freshmen will not only enjoy the activities of the year but that they will add to the campus community by electing representatives to the SLC who are enthusiastically and sincerely interested in helping to plan and organize the activities sponsored by the committee.

Cultural Affairs Committee Chairman Outlines Year

The Cultural Affairs Committee should play a prominent part in the lives of students at Salisbury State College, and consequently it is one of the more important committees under the aegis of the Student Government Association. It is composed of both faculty and students, and its purpose is to provide students with ample opportunity to broaden their acquaintance with all facets of modern culture.

In this upcoming year the committee will sponsor a number of varied activities that will relate to all phases of cultural life. Within the realm of the visual arts the committee will sponsor a series of art films. In the past such films as "Wild Strawberries," "The Seventh Seal," "8½," "Hiroshima, Mon Amour," and "The Four Hundred Blows" have been shown. The College Gallery, also part of the visual arts will be open for the first time; and in conjunction with its opening we will have an exhibit on loan from the Baltimore Museum of Art. In addition, Mr. William Parkhurst will lecture on "The Role of the Arts in Contemporary Society" at the opening.

Concerts

In relation to the performing arts the committee sponsors both the series of Community Concerts and the Baltimore Symphony Concerts by offering students 100 tickets for use at each performance. In October of this year we have planned a Fall Festival of the Arts which will include a dance recital by the Alvin Ailey Dance Company; a concert by Mrs. Constance Knox Carroll, pianist; and "Poetry in 3-D," an evening of readings by a group of professional actors. Later in the year we will have a dramatic performance directed by Philip Burton entitled "The Battle of the Sexes." This aspect of the committee's work is very ably complemented by the excellent productions of the campus's own drama group, The Sophanes Players.

Lectures

In the past the Cultural Affairs Committee has been responsible for bringing to the campus such noted speakers as Loren Eisley and Ashley Montague. This year we will definitely have Eric Goldman, prominent historian and author of The Crucial Decade; and May Sarton, poetess and teacher.

Anne Ritchings
Committee Chairman

In connection with the opening the new science building, the committee has planned a science emphasis week, which will include student papers and seminars, a some prominent scientist as campus visitor. The committee also hopes to get a qualified speaker on the use of drugs in today's society, and Thomas P. Hoving, the newly appointed director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City. This part of our program is supplemented by the meetings of Phi Alpha Theta, the historical honorary society on campus. The theme of this year's meetings will be "Current American History with special emphasis on the approaching presidential campaign and election. A large part of the aspect of the cultural activity heavily dependent on the talent that lies within our own faculty and students. Students and faculty members frequently form panels and discuss what they feel to be major issues. This particular facet of the committee's work offers every student the opportunity to express his opinion and to become directly involved with vital issues and it is sincerely hoped that students (but especially freshmen) will take this chance to express their feelings and thoughts.

It promises to be a good year and one which should offer something to suit everyone's taste.
